I have been a professional voiceover for over 30 years covering a wide range of outputs, and I specialise in narrating factual TV programmes and documentaries. I worked many years at BBC Bristol as a news presenter and narrator of various programmes and strands but I am now a freelance full-time professional voiceover with my own broadcast quality studio. I supply all types of audio file such as wav, aif and mp3.

I also am an experienced video editor (BBC and ITV Granada trained and experienced) so if you would like me not just to record your voiceover, but add and mix it to your film, I can offer this service as well as supply to you an HD mp4 or other format video file.

You can see a selection of wildlife documentaries with my narration on here:

The studio I have is broadcast quality with Neumann U87 and TLM 103 microphones; you can direct me via video Skype or I have ipDTL facility and you can log in via my website home page and you can record in quality audio at your end if required. I can also offer in-vision presentation as my video studio is equipped with green screen and Autocue facilities; I am a former BBC TV news presenter.
