

THE SOUND ROOM.

FILM RESUME

The Sound Room is one of New Zealand's most recognised music composition and production companies and creates sparkingly original music for screen. The Sound Room Ltd (est. 2003) is based in Auckland, New Zealand and is run by composers/producers Tom Fox and Marshall Smith.

Their speciality is composing music that transcends cultural and stylistic boundaries and regularly work on a wide variety of international projects.

Tom has been involved in a number of platinum selling hit songs and is highly experienced in cross-cultural musical collaboration. He has served as a judge for the NZ Film Awards.

Marshall won a place at the Berlinale in 2016, an ART Venture Award in 2012 for creative entrepreneurs and was granted a Professional Development Award in 2011 from the NZ Film Commission. He has also been a finalist for song of the year in the APRA Silver Scrolls (2004). Marshall is co-founder and Chairperson of the Screen Composers Guild of New Zealand.

The Sound Room has two purpose built recording studios in Auckland with a range of other studios at their disposal for larger projects as required.

Tom and Marshall pride themselves on working with warmth, integrity and honesty to create beautiful music that celebrates and supports filmmakers visions.
